NEW YORK

According to the New York State Department of Transportation (NYSDOT), Economic Impacts of New York State Airports and Aviation 2024 study, general aviation airports in New York account for $917 million in total economic activity.

Aviation by the Numbers

According to NYSDOT, New York is home to 98 general aviation airports. According to FAA data, New York is home to 23,212 pilots and 6,691 registered aircraft.

Number of Jobs

According to the New York State Department of Transportation, Economic Impacts of New York State Airports and Aviation 2024 study, general aviation airports in New York account for 5,604 jobs and over $339 million in total payroll.

Economic Impact

According to the same study, the total economic output of general aviation airports in New York is over $917 million.

According to FAA data, New York is home to 86 repair stations, 20 FAA-approved pilot schools, 11,589 student pilots, and 3,229 flight instructors.

In addition, there are 84 fixed-base operators in the state, according to the comprehensive AC-U-KWIK directory.

According to the University Aviation Association, flight departments in New York include CUNY Aviation Institute at York College in Jamaica, Dutchess Community College in Poughkeepsie, Farmingdale State College in Farmingdale, Mohawk Valley Community College in Utica, Schenectady County Community College in Schenectady, and Vaughn College of Aeronautics and Technology in Flushing.